ECHOES FROM OLD VIRGINIA. ANTI-MAHONE REPUBLICANS LOOKING

FOR A LEADER. The Colored Voter Slipping Away from the Republican Party-Gov, Cameron Says the Result of the Elections is a Substan-tial Rebuke to the Pretences and Hypocractes of the Administration.

RICHMOND, Nov. 7 .- A conference of the leading anti-Mahone Republicans is to be held at an early day to take measures to put themselves in line with the national party. The first point that will have to be decided will be the recognition of a leader. These straight-out Republicans have had such a dose of Mahone bossism that they will be very chary as to whom they select. Mr. John S. Wise, for instance, will not be selected, as he had antagonized several of the Republicans by his adherence to Mahone after they had left him. Just who will have this place eannot be foreseen. Ex-Gov. Cameron will probably be most talked of, but he and John Wise and Riddleberger belong to new issue Republicans—that is, they were of the number whose Republicanism went through the caterpillar state of Readjuster Democrat, then Readjuster, then Republican, because Arthur was for Mahone, and finally became full-blown Republican. On the other hand, ex-Senato Lewis, Mr. Yost, and others of that stripe belong to the old-line Republicans. The keeping of these two elements together will require considerable skill.

Then it is growing more apparent, as the news comes from the black districts, that many of the negroes voted with the Democrats, or did not go to the polls. It begins to look as though these negroes will gradually go over to the Democrats. When John M. Langston. the most prominent member of their race, educated them up to realizing that Mahone was their worst enemy, and then, two days before election, in response to orders from somewhere, knuckled to Mahone and began to where knuckled to Mahone and began to shrick to them to vote for Mahone, this sot them to thinking, and the result was that many would not vote at all, while others secretly voted the Democratic ticket. The Ropublican party in Virginia without the negro is a smail affair, and, now that there is some danger of the negro leaving the party, it will require astute management, especially as Mahone declares his purpose to keep his chairmanship of the Republican State Committee. Of course he will hold his black conventions and attempt to upset the plans of the kickers. This internecine war gives the Democrats their opportunity to make introds upon the negro votes. No matter what bloody-shirters may say, the significant fact connected with this election has been the vast degree of good feeling between the white Democrats and negroes. A determined effort was made to get the blacks by kindness, and especially to induce them to stay away from the polls if they were unwilling to vote against the Republican ticket. The result of this policy is manifest in the increased good feeling between the races. The Democrats propose to show their appreciation of this in a novel way. To-day leading clitzens of Amelia county are in Richmond purchasing supplies for a monster barbecue to be given by the farmers of Amelia to the negroes of that count, which is one of the few counties that went for Mahone. It is in the black belt. This barbecue is to be the beginning of a series to be given by the whites to the negroes and to foster good feeling between the races. Much enthusiasm is felt in this undertaking. A leading Democrat said to day that it ascemed to him that the Democrats would permanently break the solid negro vote in Virginia and secure a good, well-organized array of blacks to the Democratic ranks. It will be many a year before the national Ropublican morrow night at the "Kickers" meeting, when it is supposed he will have something to say in reference to Mahone's recent charge that Wise band tired, to get a few proposed to the na shrick to them to vote for Mahone, this set them to thinking, and the result was that longer tolerate Mahone. The General said at Noriolk, at the time of his so-called nomination, that the 'kiekers' had, perhaps, a tollowing of about 500 in the State. He was explicit also to say that the anti-Mahone Republicans of Virginia were all officers and no troops. I expect if he looks at the returns from Petersburg, where I live: Norfolk, where Gen. Groner lives; shenandoah, where Riddle-berger lives; augusta, where the Yosts live, and a number of others, he will find that the kickers voted early, and contributed largely to the majority by which Mahone has been retired from any future practical influence in Virginia politics."

"Of course he will. He will go to Washing-ton as a supplicant. He will there pose as a martyr. He will cry fraud. He will ask Harri-son to give him a salve for his wounds. The President has nothing to give Gen. Mahone which is large enough in dignity or salary to compensate him for the unanimity with which the good people of Virginia have turned him down."

Republicanism in Virginia?" asked the correspondent.

"I do not know. As to myself, I consider that President Harrison went to protest last Tuesday as endorser of Mahone's note, and I have no more to ask of one of them than I have to ask of the other. I believe the result of Tuesday's election to have been. North and South, a substantial rebuke to the pretences and hypogrisies of Mr. Harrison's Administration. In Virginia. Ohio, and New York the President refused recognition to friends who had made his nomination, and in each of these states recognized and assisted the worst elements of his own party, and in these States, as well as in New York, after less than twelve months of service as President, he has received at the hands of the people who elected him full notice that his administration of public affairs has not been satisfactory to them. It will not do to say that Gen. Mahone can Jean upon President Harrison for future political life. There are Hepublicans in Virginia, not Mahonius, who have the right now to gain the ear of Mr. Harrison. Perhaps I am not one of them for I have never discussed the fact that I should vote, and do not disguise the fact now that I did vote, as a Republican against Mahone."

Governor, have you seen Secretary Clarkson's interview?"
Yes. Mr. Clarkson has the unenviable distinction that he has been appointing all the Pestmasters in Virginia whose papers were signed by Mahone, and has been very busy to collect money for Gen. Mahone to use in his nevitable defeat. This is one of the times since the war when I can agree with a United States Judge. One of them said the other day, after regiting how Gen. Mahone had obtained all the Federal patronage and Northern money on his promise to carry the State of Virginia, that he ought to be indicated for obtaining patronages and money under faise pretences, for he knew just as well two months ago as he knows now that he could not be elected. It did not take cheating to beat Mahone. No amount of frauds could have elected him." lovernor, have you seen Secretary Clark-

DES MOINES, Nov. 6 .- The Register says: leturns from all counties, by full vote or estimated majorities, indicate the election of Boies, the Democratic candidate for Governor, by a small plurality, probably not over 3,000. The vote is running so close, with so many unespected changes, that almost the entire vote will have to be known before results can be ascertained. It is probable that the Hepublican State ticket, with the exception of Hutchinson, is elected by a small margin.

The Montana Election Contest. HELENA, Mon., Nov. 7 .- The Silver Bow mandamus case was finished to-day. Judge Dewolf denying the right of the minority of the Board of Canvassers to appeal from the order of the court directing the canvassers to count the vote of the tunnel precinct.

The court issued a mandatory order and Hall and Hall and Irvin counted the vote of its disputed precinct for McHutton, lemocrat. This decision also covers the legislative contest, and by it the Democrate score ten of the selection members of the Silver How delegation.

MAYOR CHAPIN SERENADED.

We Makes a Speech and Pays His Respects

One column in the triumphant army o the Brooklyn Democracy celebrated its victory last night by a serenade to Mayor Chapin. It consisted of from 2,000 to 3,000 Twenty-second ward Democrats, including the John Delmar Legion, the members of the regular ward association, and the Business Men's Association. When the escenading party reached the Mayor's house at 24 Eighth avenue, the band struck up "Hail to the Chief." Chapin appeared on the stoop, surrounded by John Delmar, ex-Alderman Olena, David A. Boody, ex-Assemblyman Longley, and William Stafford. Mr. Chapin was cheered again and again, and a few minutes elapsed before he had a chance to return his thanks. He said that they had all ample cause for mutual congratulations and cheerfulness. The general support which the Democratic ticket, both State and local, had received was especially worthy of pleasant recollection. They had also worthy of pleasant recollection. They had also especial reason to be grateful when they recalled the sort of issue they had presented to the people in the recent canvass. The people were asked if they wished them to go on and make the city what it should be and carry out some necessary improvements. It was a bold, and, perhaps, hazardous issue.

It had triumpled, however, he said, and the people had declared in favor of going on in line with the inaterial progress of the city. The result of the election had shown that the Democratic party in Brooklyn could be kept in such shape as to have no fear from unholy alliances made by its opponents or from the treachery of men whom the party had built un. The essential duty of the Democracy was to march forward, shoulder to shoulder. The Mayor closed by saying to the enthusiastic crowd of 5,000 or 6,000 Democrats:

"I would be glad to ask you all to come in, if you could."

"I would be giad to ask you all to could,"
This provoked a good deal of laughter, in which Mrs. Chapin and the other ladies who were viewing the scene from the windows of the Mayors house joined. The crowd then dispersed, cheering for Mayor Chapin and "our next Governor."

THEY DIDN'T GET THE POTES.

That Seems to Be the Reason the Repub-ileans Lost These Senators.

Chairman Gen. John N. Knapp of the Reublican State Committee is still at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and says that he will stay until after the official canvass of the vote here next Tuesday. He has sent for the returns on Wemple, Tabor, Cooke, and Varnum all over the State, and it looks as though he intended to do a great deal of ciphering.

Chairman Quackenbush of the Republican State Executive Committee, Isaac Baker, and James S. Smart went up to Troy last night to see if they can find any grounds for contesting the Senate election there. It is not on account of the closeness of the vote, for the Democratic candidate. Collins, got a majority of 3,200. But the Republicana usually carry the district, and perhaps they think they can carry it.

Charles R. De Freest, the Clerk of the Democratic State Committee, was in town last night and said of the contest in the Sixteenth Senate district, which includes Washington and Rensselaer counties: "It was a very fair election, but the Republicans did a little funny work. Albert Thayer, the Democratic President of the Common Council of Troy, votes in a Republican district. When he got to the polls he found that his name had been voted on. It would be hard to make me believe that a Democratic vote went in on it. The fact is that the Republicans, as usual, raise the cry of fraud to hide their discomflure. They can find the causes of their defeat there without looking outside their own ranks. Their candidate, Rogers, is far unpopular man, who wen the nomination after a bitter factional fight between H. G. Burielgh, a Miller man, and Isaac Baker, a Platt man. The vote in Washington county, which is Republican even to the control of the election machinery, fell off from the customary 5,000 majority to 1.700." the Senate election there. It is not on account

MIL. VOORHIS STILL MUTE.

Mts Friends Say He has No Intention of Joining Tammany.

Clerk De Freest of the Democratic State Committee furnished to the reporters yesterday a copy of Police Commissioner Voorhis's resignation from the State Committee, which is dated the day before election, and says: Having been at the recent Democratic State Convention designated by the New York County Democracy as a member of the State Committee, and being unwilling to represent and unable to justify the policy and action of the County Democratic Space policy and action of the County Democracy organization in its efforts at the pending election to elect candidates of the Republican party to important public offices. I deem it my duty under the foregoing circumstances to, and I bereby do, tender my resination as a member of the New York State Democratic Committee.

state Democrate Committee.

The gossip about Mr. Voorhis now is that he intends to go into Tammany Hall, and will be elected President of the Police Board. Then the place of Chief of the Bureau of Elections, in which John J. O'Brien is holding over, will be given to Col. Edward Gilon, one of the lieutenants of Commissioner Voorhis.

Mr. Voorhis preserved his usual reticence when questioned, but his intimates in the district organization say that he has no intention of resigning from the County Democracy or going into Tammany's ranks. He holds that the County Democracy, under its plan of organization, has very few members outside of his district.

When Comptroller Myers was asked yesterday if he was going to resign from the County Democracy he said:

"It looks as if the County Democracy had resigned from me."

"It looks as if the County Democracy had resigned from me."

The Police Justiceship soon to become vacant on the expiration of Justice Patterson's term is at present engrossing the attention of the politicians. The friends of Edward P. Hagan are confident that he will get the place, and get it for the full term. But Mayor Grant is customarily non-committal, and made no exception in this case. "The folks who fix these things up so nicely ought to let me know something about it," was all he said.

MISS DREXEL TAKES THE WHITE VEIL. She Will Devote Herself to Work Among

Indians and Colored People. PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7 .- Miss Kate Drexel, the second daughter of the late F. A. Drexel. the well-known Philadelphia banker, who left her about $6,000,000, took the white veil of the povitiate at the Convent of the Sisters of Mercy, in this city, this morning. The ceremony, which was conducted by Archbishop Ryan of

was very impressive. None but the relatives and friends of Miss Drexel were present. and friends of Miss Drexel were present.

At 10 o'clock Archbishop Byan and Bishop Phelan, followed by Bishops Blondel and Kentrick, issued from the vestry. They were followed by a large number of the Catholic clerky of Fittsburgh and Eastern Cities. Miss Drexel entered a few minutes later accompanied by the superiorses and assistant.

Miss Drexel wore a wedding dress of creamy white satin. When she reached the aitar she kneit and received the blessing of the superioress, and asked that she be known in religion as Bister Catherine. After the usual service Archbishop Byan delivered a sermon. At the close of the sormon Miss Drexel, supported on either side by the Mother and Assistant Mother of the Order, left the chapel. The train of the bridal dress was borne by two children. In a few minutes the black dress, for which the satin dress was to be exchanged, was given by the Archbishop from the sitar and carried to Miss Drexel. Shortly after she resintered, wearing the black dress. Singing and short prayers concluded the ceromony, and then the newly veiled Sister Catherine passed out, followed by the clergy, the sisters of the order, and the relatives and friends of Miss Drexel.

An elaborate banquet was served after the morning celebration, at which about 300 friends of Miss Drexel were present. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Childs. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Drexel, Jr., Miss Josephine Drexel, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. prexel, Jr., Miss Josephine Drexel, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morell, all of Philadelphia.

It will be two years before Miss Drexel will be eligible to make her solemn profession and receive the black well. Her object is not to become an ordinary member of the Sisterhood of Mercy, but to gather about her those who, like herself, may wish to devote themselves to the service of neglected findians and colored people. She expects to labor for the seducation of Indian and colored girls. At 10 o'clock Archbishop Ryan and Bishop ann Interesting Bectsion to Other Trusts, Too-Gen, Pryor Does Not Anticipate an Appeal, and Thinks that the Standard Oil Trust's Turn May Come Next.

DEAD AGAINST THE TRUST

THE SUGAR COMBINE A CRIMINAL EN-TERPRISE, SAY THREE JUDGES.

The General Term of the Supreme Court has affirmed Judge Barrett's decision that the Sugar Trust agreement is criminal, and that the North River Sugar Refining Company has forfelted its charter by joining the Trust. Part of this decision applies with full force to other members of the Trust, and part only to such as have suspended manufacture by direction of the Trust. Judges Van Brunt, Daniels, and Brady concur in the decision, and Justice Daniels writes it. It is intimated that the New York corporations in the Standard Oil Trust may be the next to be attacked by the Attorney-General. The decision says, in the first place, that it is sufficiently clear that the purpose of the trust was to make money by avolding competition. controlling the product, and regulating the price.

"A jury," the Court says, "certainly would be fully justified in concluding, from the agreement and the other facts in evidence in the case, that the governing object of the association was to promote its interests and advance the prosperity of the associates by limiting the supply when that could properly be done and advancing the prices of the products produced by the companies. To conclude otherwise would be to violate all the observations and experiences of practical life. This is a controlling feature in this controversy. And that it was intended to be secured by the organization provided for and which actually took place is reasonably free from doubt, and where that appears to be the fact the agreement, association, combination, or arrangement, or whatever else it may be called, having for its objects the removal of competition and the advancement of prices of necessaries of life, is subject to the condemnation of the law, by which it is denounced as a criminal enterprise.

After quoting the law making it a misdemeanor to commit any act injurious to trade or commerce, and mentioning cases in which it was beld that combinations akin to the Sugar Trust were in violation of the statute, Justice Daniels says:

At the facts have been developed, the sasociation or experiences of practical life. This is a con-commerce, and mentioning cases in which it was held that combinations akin to the Sugar Trust were in violation of the statute, Justice Daniels says:

As the facts have been developed, the association or combination me which the defendant has in this manifold in the store of the defendant has in this manifold in the store of the defendant has in this manifold it has not making itself a perty to that association related the store of the store o

Tabor in the suit, said last night that in his opinion the decision of the General Term meant the disintegration of the Sugar Trust without further appeal.

"The decision," he said, "applies to every refinery in the State belonging to the trust, and we will fight this trust and all of these trusts to the bitter end. It was after a long consultation that we decided to begin with the Sugar Trust. We did this because the Sugar Trust people are mostly bemocrats. Mr. Tabor and I being Democrats, we would have been charged with bringing politics into the matter if we had begun on the Standard Oil Trust, which is Republican. But the Standard Trust is just as much concerned in to-day's decision as the Sugar Trust. It also has New York corporations associated with it, and the Standard people have known all along the effect of Judge Barrett's decision against the North River Sugar Refining Company. Well, Mr. Tabor decided to begin on the Sugar Trust, and when that is flushed there will be consultations as to the first shot to be fired at the Standard. You will observe that Mr. Tabor ran behind his ticket in Tuesday's election even more than Mr. Wemole. That was in part due, I think to this suit. Should Mr. Tabor agree with my views, he will decide to apply for a receiver for one of the New York corporations forming part of the Standard Trust.

There was a report around town last night that the Sugar Trust people had anticipated

Trust."

There was a report around town last night that the Sugar Trust people had anticinated the General Term's decision, and to shut off the application for receivers for any more of the New York refineries in the trust, they were ready with papers which completely reorganized the trust. These papers, it was said, would be ready for publication either to-day or to-morrow. Gen. Pryor had heard the report, but he could not speak of its authesticity.

CARDINAL GIBBONS'S BOOK.

An Exhortation to Laboring Men-Banger that Threaten Our Civilization. BALTIMORE. Nov. 7 .- Cardinal Gibbons's book, "Our Christian Heritage," will be issued to-morrow by the publishers, John Murphy & Co. "To the memory of John Carroll, the patriarch of the American Church, and to the prelates and clergy of the United States, heirs of his faith and his mission, it is affectionately inscribed on the one hundredth anniversary of the creation of the Catholic hierarchy."

The book endeavors to show that the fundamental truths underlying Christianity are all susceptible of being demonstrated by our unaided reason, but are made still more luminous by the light of Christianity. It has nothing to say against other Christian denominations.
Most of the subjects discussed are advocated by Protestant writers.
In the clo-ing chapter on the dignity of labor the Cardinal addresses to the laboring man a friendly exhortation:

the Cardinal addresses to the laboring man a friendly exhortation:

1. Unitivate a spirit of industry, without which all the appliances of organized labor are unavailing. A life of patient industry is sure to be bessed with a competence, if it is not crowned with an abundant remunstation. The majority of our leading men of wealth are indebted for their fertunes to their own industry. Take an active, personal, conceinious interest in the husiness of your employer, and the more you complement to its success the better he can afford to compensate you for your services. He will be impelled to requite you with a generous hand.

2. Foster habits of economy and self-denial. No matter how modest your income may be always livs under it. earthly labors are drawing to a close, it will cheer you with the bright prospect of an elevinal Sabbath.

On the dangers that threaten our American civilization the book says:

If our flovernment and legislation are permeated and fortified by Divine revelation and Christian traditions, we cannot ignore the fact that they are assailed by unbellef, implety, and socialism. We are confronted by the great evila—Mormonism and divorce, which strike at the root of the family and society; an imperfect at the root of the family and society; an imperfect at the root of the family and society; an imperfect the root of the family and society; an imperfect of the Christian Sabbath, which tends to obliterate in our adult population the salutary fear of foliograph of the Christian Sabbath, which tends to obliterate in our adult population the salutary fear of foliograph of the continuous and the numerous anthertuges by which criminals evade the execution of the law. Our insatiable greed for gain, the consistence or colossal wealth with abject poverty, the extravagance of the rich, the discontent of the poor, our eager and imperious rushing through life, and every other more, and social delingency may be traced to one of the five radical view bounderated above.

Of the "defective system of public school

Of the "defective system of public school education" he says:

An education that improves the mind and the memory, to the neglect of moral and religious training, is at best but an imperfect system. It is not enough for children to have a secular education; they must receive also a religious training. Indeed, religious knowledge is as far above human science as heaven is above earth. The remedy for the defects of our educational system would be supplied if the denominational system, such as now obtains in Causada, were applied to our public actions.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.-Philip Armour, Jr., and Miss Mae Lester, daughter of the millionaire Board of Trade operator, who were married so mysteriously yesterday, are now enjoying their honeymoon in the East. FORAKER'S DEFEAT IN OHIO.

TREACHERY IN THE PARTY CAUSED IT, HIS FRIENDS SAY.

hey Threaten to Betallate Upon Grosve-nor, Kennedy, Butterworth, and McKin-ley-Harrison Gots a Share of the Blame -A Few Republicans Elected, Perhaps, COLUMBUS, Nov. 7 .- Gov. Foraker refuses to blame any one personally for his defeat. "It would hardly be becoming in me to do so." he said to day. "I am defeated, and have con-gratulated Mr. Campbell. I am disappointed, ecause I had expected a different outcome. and now I am going to Cincinnati to practise law. I will not complain of any one's conduct." Gov. Foraker was, however, willing to assign general and local causes. He said:

"It appears from the returns that I am de-feated, and that the rest of the State ticket is undoubtedly elected. Of course, the combi-nation against me of the liquor dealers, saloon keepers, and other violators of the law, added to the opposition of the Republicans who took sides against me on personal grounds and on account of third termism, made a different result bardly to be expected. But we had a right to expect Republican gains and support in dis-tricts where there are heavy Republican losses. While I feel my defeat, I assure you that I am not cast down, but, of course, regret the defeat of my party. I feel confident that the Republi-cans who have seen fit to place the Democratic party in power and vindicate the election of Henry B. Payne to the United States Senate will, before the expiration of the Democratic Administration, have ample time and occasion to appreciate their mistake."

But if Gov. Foraker will make no personal accusations at this time, there are many of his friends who are less considerate. They openly declare that no man in Ohio politics has ever suffered as much from treachery as Foraker. They roundly denounce Gen. Grosvenor, Gen. Konnedy, and Major Butterworth, and some extend the cond-mation to Major McKinley. Upon the item two named the burden of criticism has fallen, because both are known to have kniled Foraker off the stump and upon every occasion where their words would not reach the public. Foraker's friends are more kindly disposed toward senator Sherman than toward any other prominent Republican in Ohio. They say that he was the only one of the leaders who kept his pledge to support Foraker. Butterworth and McKinley are blamed on general principles—not for any specific words or acts.

There is no question about the attitude of Foraker Republicans toward the Administration at Washington. No attempt is made to conceal their disapproval of the policy of the President. One of Gov. Foraker's friends said:

"It is a notorious fact that Foraker couldn't even secure the appointment of a fourth-class Postmaster. They wouldn't give him any consideration whatever, and in consequence Harrison can be blamed in part for this defeat. Of course. Sherman should have aided us in securing patronage, but that doesn't relieve the Administration."

All of Foraker's friends unite in criticising the Administration and verybody predicts complete demoralization of the party in this State until the feud is ended. Foraker himself is reported to have said to Stephen A. Douglas. Jr.:

"It is a dangerous thing to knife the ticket of one's own party, but since some eminent Republicans have seen fit to inaugurate this practice, perhaps I. too. may be able to follow in their footsteps in the future without being considered a traitor to my party.

On the other hand. Foraker's enemies accuse him of dragging down the whole ticket, and they are equally unsparing in their criticisms.

The latest returns available show that the Republican State ticket, with the exception of Foraker's returns available show that the Republicans have seen the Republicans have seen the Republicans asp suffered as much from treachery as Foraker. They roundly denounce Gen. Grosvenor, Gen.

Columbus, Nov. 7.—The indications are now that the Republicans have elected all the candidates on their State ticket with the exception of Foraker, and possibly Lampson, the candidate for Lieutenant-Governor. The returns show that Foraker ran about 11.650 behind the licket. It is estimated, therefore, that Campbell must have a plurality of at least 12.000 in order to insure the election of the rest of the Democratic ticket. Watson for Attorney-General, and Hoster for Clerk of the Supreme Court, will run about 2.000 shead of the rest of the ticket, not counting the head.

At Democratic headquarters it is conceded that Campbell's plurality will have to be 11.000 in order to save Marquis, the candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, and even greater to save the rest of the ticket. The Democrats think, however, that Campbell's plurality plurality will reach By the Aspedated Peest.

Lieutenant-Governor, and even greater to save the rest of the ticket. The Democrats think however, that Campbell's plurality will reach 13,000 or 14,000, which would insure the election of the entire Democratic ticket.

This statement was given out from Republican headquarters at 10 o'clock to-night:

"We have returns from the entire State showing the election of Judge Dickman, Attorney-Goneral Watson, State Commissioner Brown, Member of the Board of Public Works Cahn, School Commissioner John Hancock, and Clerk of the Supreme Court Hester, by pluralities ranging from 2,500 to 5,000. We believe Lampson is elected Lieutenant-Governor, but the race between him and Mr. Marquis was close, and Mr. Lampson's plurality will be small. It will require the official vote to obtain the exact plurality of the Republican candidate.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 7.—Unofficial returns have been received from all the counties in Ohio, They show a plurality for Campbell of 11,454.

Broker Seymour and Mrs. Aver.

Witnesses for the prosecution in the case of Mrs. Harriet Hubbard Ayer against Broker James M, Seymour, examined yesterday before United States Commissioner Shields, told United States District Attorney A. J. Rose that two foreign letters sent to Mrs. Ayer, and addressed to the Clarendon Hotel, had never been received by her. She was in Europe at the time Seymour had them put in the liceamier box, and so obtained possession of them. A Western Union Telegraph clerk testified that Seymour obtained copies of telegrants sent Mrs. Ayer by her dector by means of letters, to one of which he signed her name. Ex Congressman Wise appeared for Mr. Seymour, who was present.

The case was adjourned till 10 A. M. on Ney. 25. Commissioner Shields, told United States District At Law for the Eigented Railroads, Too. Judge Andrews handed down yesterday an opinion in which he says that he will grant stays, pend-ing appeals from his orders, on the preliminary objeclons made by property owners against the condem tions made by property owners against the condem-nation proceedings brought by the elevated railroad companies. The property owners most silpulate, how-ever, that actions now pending shall not be tried until after the hearing and decision of the appeals. Jude Andrews says that if the companies have proceeded ac-cording to law, they have an absolute legal right to ac-quire the easements by condemnation, and if he were to permit the property owners to delay lices proceed-ings until after the trial of their actions the companies would be deprived of their clear legal rights.

Sockdolager for the Long Island Bridge, The Long Island Bridge Company's application for a commission to appraise the value of lands on Blackwell's Island to be taken for the bridge was in March last denied by Judge Van Brunt and the General Term sustains his position. The points of the decision are:

1. The law of 1807, under which the company was organized, did not provide for a railroad bridge.

2. The original charter was forfeited by failure to begin work. Another was obtained in 1885.

3. The law of 1885, chapter 202, is unconstitutional.

4. The new charter was forfeited by failure to begin work by May 30, 1888.

A Woman Dies of Hemorrhage Because

Mrs. Kate Mulligan, 25 years old, died esterday morning from hemorrhage following childbirth, in William Steele's apartment, on the top floor at 224 East Fifty-seventh street. Mrs. Mulligan, with her child Lalelah, had been living with Steele for the past three weeks. She had left her husband, and Steele was living apart from his wife.

Until a month ago Steele was engineer in the South Kensington flats, at Fifty-sixth street and Park avenue, and Mrs. Mulligan worked there as a scrub woman. Both were discharged at that time.

On Wednesday night Mrs. Mulligan became ill, and asked Steele to get Maggie Mathews, a servant for Dr. Chance, at the Kensington, but the girl refused to come. Steels then went for a doctor in Fifty-sixth street, but he wanted his pay before he would attend. At 4 o'clock yesterday morning Steels saw that Mrs. Mulligan was worse, and hurried to Bellevue Hospital for an ambulance. The clerk told Steels that the call must come through the police before an ambulance could be sent.

After suffering all night without medical attendance, the woman finally died at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. When Steels reported the death to the Fifty-first street police he was detained on suspicion. Coroner Messemer subsequently discharged him, as Mrs. Mulligan had died from natural causes. servant for Dr. Chance, at the Kensington, but

THE FLOAT CARRIED THE SCHOONER. Singular Result of a Midnight Collision in East River. A big float loaded with freight cars in tow of tug 4 of the New Haven Railroad collided with the two-masted schooner Nettie M. Rodg-ers of New Orleans while it was going down the east channel of East River about midnight on Saturday night. The schooner was loaded with coal from South Amboy to New Orleans and was commanded by Capt, Albert Smith, It had a crew of two men, and Aaron Snow of New Orleans, the owner, was also on board. The bow of the float struck the schooner about two feet forward of the mainmast on the port side and penetrated as far as the main hatch.

As the tug pulled the float away the schooner's mainmast fell. Some of the rigging caught on the float, and this, it is said, prevented the schooner from sinking. Mr. Snow is lame, but he and all on board the schooner managed to got on the float. Mr. Snow says if the schooner's rigging hadn't caught on the float they would all have been drowned. The float they would all have been drowned. The float they would all have been drowned. The schooner was going up the river with a southerly wind and an easterly tide. Mr. Snow says the Captain of the tug was to blame for the accident. Yesterday he reported the matter to the company, and, as they refused to recognize his claim, he libelled the tug and float for $4,200. The bow of the float struck the schooner about and slight would-be assassin then drew a short face.

THE ATTEMPT TO KILL COUNT OKUMA. Tsuncki Killed Himself with a Sword After Throwing His Bomb.

San Francisco, Nov. 7 .- The steamer City of Sydney, from Jaean, to-day brings details of the attempted assassination on Oct. 18 of Count Okuma, the Minister of Foreign Affairs for Japan. The Count was returning from a Cabinet meeting, and was just entering the gate of his residence when a man named Kurishma Tsuneki 30 years of age, and who was colitically envious of the Count, stepped in front of the carriage and threw a bomb at him. The bomb struck the top of the carriage, and exploded at the Count's feet inflicting deep wounds on the right leg, and slight wounds on the right hand and in the lace.

The would-be assassin then drew a short sword and killed himself by cutting his throat.
The Count's leg was amputated above the knee, but the surgeons say that no fear need be entertained for his life.

Mrs. R. C. Dinegar shot herself on Wednesday afternoon, as was reported, accidentally. It appears now that she not only attempted suicide, but she pears now that she not only attempted suicide, but shot at herself twice with a 22-calibre pistol. Only one shot took effect. Mrs. Dinegar's sister was in the room with her at the time. Mrs. Dinegar selved a pistol from the bureau and flourished it in the air. He sister rushed out of the room. When she returned she found Mrs. Dinegar lying on the bed with blood streaming from a wound in her forehead. One of the bulleus lodged in the head of the bedstead, but the other could not be found. At the Manhattan Hospital Mrs. Dinegar became a raving manlac. At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon she jumped from her cot and made a dash for the window, three stories above the sidewalk. Her nurse grasped her by the shoulder and held her till help came.

An Alleged Combine with the Bockmasters to Bring All Business to Piers Held by Proxice—An Investigation Under War.

The office of the Commissioners of Accounts was the scene of a mysterious hearing yesterday. Witnesses were examined in private, shorthand minutes of their testimony were taken, and Corporation Counsel Clark was there all day. But all parties to the proceedings were dumb as oysters concerning the developments therein.

The last important department that the Commissioners of Accounts undertook to investigate was the Dock Department, and the witnesses before them yesterday were said to be the surities of a number of dock lessees. This indicates the truth of what was rumored some time ago, that the investigators had found out something of consequence in Dock Depart-ment matters. The nature of the find is said to be the discovery that many of the docks are leased to politicians of influence whose names may not even appear in the instrument.

The assistance of the dockmasters is neces-sary to make such a holding profitable. and it is said to be a curious fact that leased piers is said to be a curious fact that leased piers right alongside of those which the city owns and keeps in its own control do a rushing business and are always occupied while no vessels come to the piers from which the city collects the wharfage.

A single east side pier was the subject of yesterday's inquiry, and it is said that the sureties did not disclose the real principals in the leasing of the pier. The questions put to them indicated that the tip has been given to the Commissioners that an ex-Congressman and an ex-Civil Justice are among those interested in the little "spec." The hearing will be continued to-day.
